His tenure as Secretary Manager of the Co-operative Superannuation Society extended over sixteen years and initiated his advocacy for defined contribution pension plans. The Saskatoon Credit Union and the Co-op Trust Company also benefited from his contributions.

In his personal life, Mr. Robbins was an active participant in a number of community and sport organizations. He continued to participate in tennis competitions into his 80s. Mr. Robbins retained a passionate interest in his family's farm and would participate in the operations as time permitted.

Mr. Robbins was first elected to this Assembly in 1964 and served one term representing the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation in Opposition. In 1971, he was elected as a member of the New Democratic Party and successfully retained his seat in the following two elections.
