QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Mr. Nilson asked the government the following Question No. 364, which was answered by the Hon. Mr. Duncan:

To the Minister of Health: (1) How many seniors admitted to a hospital in the Athabasca Health Authority were waiting for admittance into supported care as of March 31, 2006? (2) 2007? (3) 2008? (4) 2009? (5) 2010? (6) 2011? (7) 2012? (8) 2013?

Answer:

The Ministry of Health nor the regional health authorities recognize the term “supported care” as a definition for services offered. This term could refer to a basket of services including – but not limited to: home care, personal care homes and private assisted living. In previous Written Questions, an ‘institutional supportive care bed’ is generally understood to be a long-term care bed/special care home bed. Furthermore, data on individuals waiting for placement into an institutional supportive care bed is not collected by age cohort (ie: seniors). Data is available on the number of acute care beds occupied by all individuals awaiting placement in a special care home. That data is provided for each health region in subsequent Written Questions (for years the data is available).

Mr. Nilson asked the government the following Question No. 365, which was answered by the Hon. Mr. Duncan:

To the Minister of Health: (1) How many seniors admitted to a hospital in the Athabasca Health Authority were waiting for admittance into palliative care as of March 31, 2006? (2) 2007? (3) 2008? (4) 2009? (5) 2010? (6) 2011? (7) 2012? (8) 2013?

Answer:

The Ministry of Health and the regional health authorities do not collect this information; however, when a client is assessed as requiring palliative care they will be provided this care by the regional health authority through home care, long-term care or in the hospital.

Mr. Nilson asked the government the following Question No. 366, which was answered by the Hon. Mr. Duncan:

To the Minister of Health: (1) How many seniors admitted to a hospital in the Athabasca Health Authority were waiting to be assessed for admittance to a long-term care facility or to be put on a wait list to enter a long-term care facility as of March 31, 2006? (2) 2007? (3) 2008? (4) 2009? (5) 2010? (6) 2011? (7) 2012? (8) 2013?

Answer:

The Ministry of Health or the regional health authorities do not collect information on a specific age cohort awaiting placement in long-term care, nor the number of individuals awaiting assessment for long-term care while in hospital. Data is available on the number of acute care beds occupied by all individuals awaiting placement in a special care home. That data is provided by region in subsequent Written Questions for years the data is available.

Mr. Nilson asked the government the following Question No. 367, which was answered by the Hon. Mr. Duncan:

To the Minister of Health: (1) How many seniors admitted to hospital were waiting for admittance into long-term care as of March 31, 2006? (2) 2007? (3) 2008? (4) 2009? (5) 2010? (6) 2011? (7) 2012? (8) 2013?

Answer:

The Ministry of Health or regional health authorities do not collect this information based on age cohort. However, information is collected on the number of acute care beds occupied by individuals (not just seniors) awaiting placement in a special-care home.

Mr. Nilson asked the government the following Question No. 392, which was answered by the Hon. Mr. Duncan:

To the Minister of Health: (1) How many seniors admitted to a hospital in the Mamawetan Churchill River Regional Health Authority were waiting for admittance into supported care as of March 31, 2006? (2) 2007? (3) 2008? (4) 2009? (5) 2010? (6) 2011? (7) 2012? (8) 2013?

Answer:

The Ministry of Health and the regional health authorities do not recognize the term “supported care” as a definition for services offered. This term could refer to a basket of services including – but not limited to: home care, personal care homes and private assisted living. In previous Written Questions, an ‘institutional supportive care bed’ is generally understood to be a long-term care bed/special care home bed. Furthermore, data on individuals waiting for placement into an institutional supportive care bed is not collected by age cohort (ie: seniors). Data is available on the number of acute care beds occupied by all individuals awaiting placement in a special care home. That data is provided for each health region in subsequent Written Questions (for years the data is available).

Mr. Nilson asked the government the following Question No. 393, which was answered by the Hon. Mr. Duncan:

To the Minister of Health: (1) How many seniors admitted to a hospital in the Mamawetan Churchill River Regional Health Authority were waiting for admittance into palliative care as of March 31, 2006? (2) 2007? (3) 2008? (4) 2009? (5) 2010? (6) 2011? (7) 2012? (8) 2013?

Answer:

The Ministry of Health and the regional health authorities do not collect this information; however, when a client is assessed as requiring palliative care they will be provided this care by the regional health authority through home care, long-term care or in the hospital.

Mr. Nilson asked the government the following Question No. 394, which was answered by the Hon. Mr. Duncan:

To the Minister of Health: (1) How many seniors admitted to a hospital in the Mamawetan Churchill River Regional Health Authority were waiting to be assessed for admittance to a long-term care facility or to be put on a wait list to enter a long-term care facility as of March 31, 2006? (2) 2007? (3) 2008? (4) 2009? (5) 2010? (6) 2011? (7) 2012? (8) 2013?

Answer:

The Ministry of Health or the regional health authorities do not collect information on a specific age cohort awaiting placement in long-term care, nor the number of individuals awaiting assessment for long-term care while in hospital. Data is available on the number of acute care beds occupied by all individuals awaiting placement in a special care home. That data is provided by region in subsequent Written Questions for years the data is available.
