October 27, 2006

To the Honourable Members of the Legislative Assembly:

HONOURABLE MEMBERS:

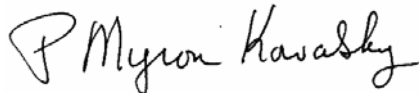

I have the pleasure to present herewith the Seventh Report of the Standing Committee on House Services. The Committee is authorized by the Assembly to examine such matters as it deems advisable with respect to the rules, procedures, practices, and powers of the Legislative Assembly, its operations, organization, and the facilities and service provided to the Assembly, its committees, and Members.

This report builds on the procedural reforms adopted in 2003 and implemented at the beginning of the present Legislature. The rules were changed to modernize the traditional functions of the Legislative Assembly. The recommendations of this report will take the Assembly another step forward in the process of modernization.

In this report, the Committee proposes a new approach to the work of Session through the framework of a parliamentary calendar. The parliamentary calendar enables the legislative and financial scrutiny functions of the Assembly to be divided into segments more constructive to the operation of the new committee system. It also helps Members to balance the traditional functions of the Assembly with the array of constituency, caucus, and ministerial duties that do not go away during Session.

Members of the committee have worked diligently and cooperatively to produce these recommendations. I especially want to recognize the leadership and contribution of the sub-committee appointed to study and make recommendations on the modernization framework, which is at the core of this report. The sub-committee was composed of the Deputy Chair of the Committee, Mr. Rod Gantefer (Opposition House Leader), and the Honourable Glenn Hagel (Government House Leader), and was assisted by the Deputy Clerk, Gregory Putz. I had the personal satisfaction of working with these three dedicated persons.

Respectfully submitted on behalf of the Committee,

Hon. P. Myron Kowalsky

STANDING COMMITTEE ON HOUSE SERVICES

MODERNIZATION FRAMEWORK: PROPOSAL FOR A PARLIAMENTARY CALENDAR

I. INTRODUCTION

On May 15, 2006, the Standing Committee on House Services appointed a sub-committee study delegation, consisting of the Speaker, Mr. Gantfoer and Mr. Hagel, to study and make recommendations on the adoption of a legislative calendar and revisions to sitting times. Your committee received and adopted the report of the sub-committee on October 16, 2006.

The recommendations of this report reflect the experience of the Legislative Assembly of Saskatchewan with an informal parliamentary calendar. This calendar was based on an agreement between the Government and Opposition caucuses made in May of 2004. That agreement expired in spring of 2006.

The recommendations are also the result of observations and review of the parliamentary calendars used in the western Canadian parliaments of Alberta, British Columbia and Manitoba. These parliaments were visited by the study delegation on August 16th through August 18th, 2006. This report draws upon the experiences of those provinces that have parliamentary calendars.

This report builds on the comprehensive reforms adopted in 2003 and implemented at the beginning of the present Legislature. Those reforms modernized the rules and procedures of the Legislative Assembly. The recommendations of this report will modernize the Assembly further through the implementation of a parliamentary calendar.

II. MODERNIZATION OF PARLIAMENT

Over the last two decades, numerous parliaments have gone through modernization programmes. The modernization agenda lead to reforms to not only Rules and Procedures, but also organizational and administrative structures. The goal was to make parliament work more effectively and efficiently. A common feature of modernization is the parliamentary calendar.

The House of Commons in Ottawa instituted a parliamentary calendar in 1982 in order to make the sitting and non-sitting times predictable. The United Kingdom adopted its first parliamentary calendar in 1992, which was re-designed in 1998 as part of a more sweeping modernization agenda. The purpose of the modernization was “to allow Members to make the best use of their time, and to better balance their various commitments in the House and its committees with the workload and demands in their constituencies.” For similar reasons, parliamentary calendars were adopted by Alberta in 1993, followed by Manitoba in 1996 (made permanent in 2003), and British Columbia in 2002 (made permanent in 2004).

Saskatchewan began its modernization agenda in 1999, which lead to the adoption of a comprehensive package of procedural reforms in 2003. When the reforms were implemented at the beginning of the present Legislature (March 2004), the Legislative Assembly of Saskatchewan had experienced its most profound procedural and operational transformation since 1905. The Rules were modernized to greatly increase public participation in the parliamentary process, enhance the role of Private Members, and create a new approach to dealing with public policy. A year later, The Legislative Assembly and Executive Council Act was amended and the Legislative Assembly Service was created to reflect the modern realities of the Assembly's administration.

In 2006, the Legislative Assembly took another step in the modernization process by experimenting with a calendar. The objective of this report is to move the Assembly further by making the parliamentary calendar permanent.

III. PARLIAMENTARY CALENDAR

The recent experiment with a calendar, along with the feedback received from Members, Speakers, Clerks and staff in other jurisdictions, helped the study delegation to identify the direct benefits of a formal parliamentary calendar.

When Sessions are not open-ended, there is greater cooperation in the scheduling of Assembly and committee business. The study delegation heard that when calendars are properly instituted with a fixed beginning and end, there are far fewer sitting days devoted to partisan maneuvering. It was pointed out to the study delegation that before calendars, the uncertainty of Sessions sometimes caused a great waste of staff resources, particularly among senior public servants.

Fixed Sessions provide Ministers, Members, their staff, and public servants the ability to manage their time more effectively and efficiently. Members of a small Assembly have numerous responsibilities and many find it increasingly difficult to juggle all the pressures of a long, demanding and highly charged Session. It was repeatedly stated that parliamentary calendars do make provision for Members to discharge all their duties more effectively if they are not required to be away from their constituency for long stretches of time.

A common problem expressed to the study delegation is that the public does not fully understand the hours kept during Session, or sometimes even that the Assembly is in Session. Fixed calendars help Members to more reasonably balance the traditional functions of the Assembly with the wider array of constituency and caucus responsibilities that simply do not go away during sessional periods. Calendars make sitting times predictable. This provides Members more opportunities during Session to schedule meetings with constituents, or to take part in constituency events.

The length and unpredictability of Session places a significant amount of pressure on Members and staff. The study delegation was able to relate to a universal lament about the toll that long stretches of uninterrupted sittings has on Members' morale, and especially on their family life. Many who spoke to the study delegation stressed that the parliamentary calendar helped parents of young families to combine their role as a legislator with family responsibilities. Some believed that the existence of a parliamentary calendar helped attract younger candidates in the middle of their careers to public office. The underlying message is that parliamentary Sessions should not be treated as if they take place in a vacuum. Parliament should be organized to reflect modern times and conditions.

These are all very important arguments for a parliamentary calendar, which your committee found very convincing. Another compelling argument is that parliamentary calendars do make it easier for the Assembly, as a whole, to carry on its functions more effectively. Given the success of the trial calendar, your committee is firmly convinced that a permanent parliamentary calendar is the next step in furthering the modernization that began in 1999. The new approach to committee work is meant to provide a greater opportunity for the public to participate in the legislative process and to enhance the work of individual Members during the legislative Session. A calendar enables the Assembly to arrange its traditional functions in segments more constructive to the operation of the new committee system.

IV. PROPOSAL FOR A SASKATCHEWAN PARLIAMENTARY CALENDAR

The experience of the past Session, as well as a study of the calendars utilized by the western Canadian parliaments, has guided the committee in development of a permanent parliamentary calendar for Saskatchewan.

The trial calendar of the second Session, twenty-fifth Legislature (2005-2006 Session) was fixed at 65 sitting days. It featured a Fall period with a Throne Speech and focus on the legislative agenda; followed by a Spring period that featured the budget and consideration of estimates. The successes of the experiment led to a desire to formalize the agreement into a permanent parliamentary calendar, when the agreement expired in May 2006. This trial calendar is the basis of your committee's recommendation that a permanent parliamentary calendar be fixed in the Rules.

The components of the calendar are explained and summarized in the next sections of this report.

Session of Sixty-Five Sitting Days

Your committee found that calendars have been in use in the three other western Canadian provinces for some time, with Alberta being the first to implement a calendar in 1993. Although the number of sitting days and pattern of sittings varies between provinces, the study delegation learned that the calendars largely reflected the traditional length of Session in these jurisdictions. The following table summarizes the number of sitting days and calendars of the three western Canadian provinces over the last five years.

	Alberta	British Columbia	Manitoba
Average Sitting Days	49 sitting days	65 sitting days	78 sitting days
Calendar Period	November (3 to 4 weeks), February through May (Victoria Day).	First Monday of October to last Thursday of November; Second Tuesday of February through last Thursday in May (no sittings approximately every third week).	November/December (Throne Speech), April through June. Since 2005, sitting days include standing committee meetings.

The ten-year average number of sitting days of the Saskatchewan Assembly is 73 sitting days. This average is based largely on the length of Sessions before the inception of the new committee structure. The new committee structure replaces the review of bills and estimates in the Assembly and permits two simultaneous committee meetings. For these reasons the average number of sitting days is no longer a helpful measuring stick when determining the time typically necessary to complete the work of Session. It is more useful to compare the number of meeting hours.

	Meeting Hours	Sitting Days
Ten-year Average	280	73
Current Session	275	64

The present Session is representative of the new committee structure in operation because the majority of bills and estimates were referred to standing committees. In this Session the Assembly sat for 180 hours while the standing committees used 95 hours to review estimates and bills (another 55 hours were spent on other reviews). Combined, these hours are the equivalent of 72 sitting days, which is typically the length of a Session.

A 65-day Session is recommended because:

- Total hours of a 65-day Session corresponds historically with the length of Session in Saskatchewan; and
- A 65-day Session is comparable to the average length of Sessions of parliaments in western Canada.

It should be noted that under the proposed parliamentary calendar a Session could be longer than 65 sitting days. For instance, if the presentation of the budget is delayed for some reason, the Session would be extended by the equivalent number of days. It is also possible that standing committees may meet for more hours, especially when hearings are held on bills.

Defined Sitting Periods

Fall Period

- Each Session of a Legislature shall commence the first sitting day of the Fall period as follows:
 - From the fourth Wednesday of October for 25 sitting days; except
 - From the fourth Thursday of October for 25 sitting days, when the fourth Wednesday of October coincides with the date of a general election, as prescribed by The Local Government Election Act.
- Fall period to feature the Throne Speech and introduction of Government's legislative agenda. Fall period is an opportunity for bills to be referred to committees for review and/or hearings over the winter months. This would clear the way for concentration on the budget in the Spring.

Spring Period

- Reconvene on a date that is no fewer than 40 sitting days before the Thursday before Victoria Day.
- Main concentration of Assembly would be the budget and estimates.
- The Thursday before Victoria Day shall be the final day of the Spring sitting, provided the budget has been introduced 30 days earlier.
- The final day of Session will be known as the "Completion Day".
- If the deadline for the budget motion is missed, the Completion Day will be postponed to a date that ensures a 30-day period of consideration of all aspects of the budget and estimates.

Parliamentary Calendar to be Published

- The Clerk will publish the parliamentary calendar so that Members, the public, the constituents, public servants and interested persons will know the days on which the Assembly is to meet.
- The calendar will be posted in the lobbies and published on the Assembly website.

Sittings Outside Calendar Periods

- The Government may call a Session outside the periods defined by the calendar. Typically, in the past, Sessions called outside the regular pattern of sittings have been to deal with an emergency or a constitutional question.

- The Rules that govern the conduct of business within the parliamentary calendar periods would not apply to emergency and extra sittings.

First Session of a New Legislature

- After a general election, the defined start times of the calendar might not be appropriate. Some special rules will apply in place of those used under the regular calendar. These rules are meant to accommodate the uniqueness of the first Session after a general election.
- The Government may begin the first Session of a new Legislature at any time. When the first Session is started outside the periods of the calendar, not all the rules that govern the parliamentary calendar will apply.
- The Completion Day of the first Session of a new Legislature will be the 29th sitting day after the budget is introduced.
- The Rules of the parliamentary calendar for the disposal of specified bills and estimates shall apply to the disposal of government business in the first Session of a new Legislature, unless otherwise ordered by the Assembly or its Rules.
- The parliamentary calendar will be observed when the Government calls the first Session of a new Legislature on the ordinary first day of the Fall period.

Revisions to Weekly Sitting Days

The pattern of four daily meetings per week is tied to the parliamentary calendars of all the western Canadian Assemblies. Your committee recommends a four-day sitting week, based on the experiences and advice of the Members of these parliaments.

With some variation, the regular sitting days of all the western Canadian parliaments are Monday through Thursday. The Manitoba Assembly does sit on Fridays for a finite period during its budget debate and debate on the Address-in-Reply. The British Columbia calendar, on the other hand, follows the model of larger parliaments by recessing approximately every third week.

The four-day sitting week, and the calendar breaks in British Columbia, are meant to provide Members a means to balance the demands of constituency work with their commitments to the Assembly and legislative committees. The study delegation heard in each of the provinces that the demands of the constituency need regular and prompt attention. This is consistent with the trend in Saskatchewan. No Member can afford to ignore local issues for long stretches of time without harming constituency relationships. In most cases Members must travel long distances to their constituencies, making it difficult to deal effectively with the constituency workload during Session. Working weekends is counterproductive to the rationale for a parliamentary calendar, and in fact only increases the work and family pressures on those Members who strive to be accessible to their constituents. The problems are compounded for Ministers, who must attend to the additional duties of Cabinet.

The four-day sitting week makes provisions for Members to balance the increased demands on their time during Session. Members interviewed stressed the importance of finding this balance. All advocated that the four-day sitting week was absolutely necessary for a sessional calendar to work. Members in British Columbia went further to say periodic breaks during the Session are essential.

It is your committee's conclusion that a four-day sitting week is a necessary reform in terms of modernizing the operation of the Assembly. There is no reason in the 21st century why Members must sequester themselves in the capital and work single-mindedly as legislators until the end of Session. This pattern was established a century ago, when travel was arduous and the role of Members quite different. In 2003, the structures of the traditional functions of the Assembly were modernized. Your committee is of the opinion that in 2006, it is time for the Assembly to further modernize its approach to the role of the Member during sessional periods.

Outline of Four-Day Sitting Week

- The Assembly to sit Monday through Thursday as follows:
 - Monday 1:30 p.m. - 10:30 p.m. (with recess between 5:00 p.m. & 7:00 p.m.)*
 - Tuesday 1:30 p.m. - 10:30 p.m. (with recess between 5:00 p.m. & 7:00 p.m.)*
 - Wednesday 1:30 p.m. - 5:00 p.m.*
 - Thursday 10:00 a.m. - 1:00 p.m.*
- On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday Government business shall take precedence on the Order Paper.
- Tuesdays and Wednesdays shall be considered committee days when the amount of business before the policy field committees requires early adjournment of the Assembly.
- When committees meet during Session to conduct reviews of bills and estimates, committees are to follow regular House hours for recesses and adjournment times.

Exception to the Rule

- When the Fall period of the parliamentary calendar commences on a Thursday (in cases when general elections are held on a Wednesday), the Assembly will sit on Thursday and Friday for the first two sitting days.

Private Members' Day

- Thursday is Private Members' Day.
- Notice deadline for Private Members' business is Tuesday at 2:30 p.m.

Designated Holidays

- In addition to the current public holidays (New Year's Day, Good Friday, Victoria Day, Canada Day, Saskatchewan Day, Labour Day, Thanksgiving Day, Remembrance Day, Christmas Day and Boxing Day), the Assembly will not sit on Easter Monday and the subsequent Tuesday.
- Thursday hours (10:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.) will be observed on sittings that precede public holidays.

Management of Government Business under a Parliamentary Calendar

There is an old saying that Governments open Sessions but they are closed by the Opposition. A permanent parliamentary calendar requires the willingness of the Government to give up its traditional right to decide when to convene the Assembly, and willingness of the Opposition to give up its parallel right to decide when the Session will end. A calendar requires that respect be paid to the principle that a Government has a right to its business but only after the Opposition has had its say. Essentially, parliamentary calendars must balance the competing interests of Government and Opposition in a way that respects the rights of Members and the traditions of the House.

Certain jurisdictions rely on sessional orders to outline the transaction of business put before the Assembly. The parliamentary calendar is operated on the basis of these orders, which are renewed and renegotiated each year by the House Leaders and caucuses. The study delegation heard that the sessional orders run into problems when the terms are too vague and subject to interpretation, or when the order lacks deadlines, or when the terms of the orders are not enforceable. It was universally recommended that Saskatchewan build safeguards into its Rules and Procedures to properly protect the interests of both the Government and the Opposition. Above all, the Rules should be enforceable by the Speaker.

Your committee has taken this advice and strongly recommends that:

- The mechanics of a Saskatchewan parliamentary calendar must be based on rules, rather than sessional orders;
- The calendar must include enforceable deadlines but it must also respect the traditional functions of the Assembly.

Your committee is keenly aware that the calendar will not work if the Rules do not carefully balance the competing interests of the Government and Opposition. The recommendations that follow were crafted with the goal to achieve proper balance.

Passage of Bills under a Parliamentary Calendar

- Under a parliamentary calendar, specific bills are required to be voted before the last day of Session (i.e. the “Completion Day”).
- Bills that must be passed will be specified by a notation on the Order Paper. These bills will be known as “Specified Bills” and will be defined by the Rules as follows:
 - Government Bills introduced during the Fall period;
 - Government Bills introduced before December 21st in the first Session of a new Legislature;
 - Government Bills which are necessary for the passage of the budgetary estimates.
- Any bills tied to the budget must be identified as “budget bills” in the estimates book. When introduced, budget-related bills will become “Specified Bills.”
- The final Appropriation Bill must be passed before the last day of Session. However, because it cannot be introduced until all the estimates have been reported back to the Assembly, no notation on the Order Paper is necessary.
- The Specified Bill classification may be removed from a bill by the Government House Leader. The process for doing this is the House Leader standing in his or her place during Government Orders and making the announcement orally.

Procedure for Passage of “Specified Bills” at the Deadline

- The deadline for passage of Specified Bills is the sitting day prior to the Completion Day. Normally this will be the Wednesday before Victoria Day.
- The Rules will provide special procedures to complete consideration of any Specified Bills not previously concluded. It is anticipated that most, if not all, bills will be voted on before the deadline.
- Bills that are not voted before the deadline will not be “deemed” passed, as in some jurisdictions. The Saskatchewan Rules will remain true to the principle that all questions should be voted and decided by a majority of Members.

- Standing committees will be required to meet in the morning on the day prior to the Completion Day to vote on any bills not passed.
 - The rule will apply only to bills that had been agreed to in principle at Second Reading. It will not apply to Bills referred to a committee after First Reading.
 - Special rules will allow the votes to be taken in the committees even if there is no quorum. The Rules will also allow the Chair to combine questions to expedite the vote. For instance, all the clauses of the bill will be combined into a single question.
 - Clause by clause consideration in Committee of the Whole will be automatically waived on bills reported back from standing committees on the day prior to the Completion Day.
 - Bills will be reported back during Routine Proceedings, under reports from committees, later the same day.
- Specified Bills that are still before the Assembly at the deadline will be called by the Clerk in succession and in the appropriate order, beginning with bills at second reading or adjourned debate stage on the Order Paper.
- The Speaker will put all questions necessary to dispose of the main question on these bills. Those that pass will automatically be referred to Committee of the Whole.
- In Committee of the Whole, the Chair will be required by the Rules to combine questions in a similar fashion to the procedures outlined for standing committees.
- The Rules that require separate days for each reading of a bill will not apply to Third Reading for Specified Bills at the deadline. When Third Reading is called, the Speaker will put the question and no debate will be allowed.
- The Rule that reserves two sitting days of debate on the Appropriation Bill will be suspended if the Final Appropriation Bill is not introduced more than two sitting days prior to the Completion Day.
- The three-day suspension rule shall not apply to Specified Bills.
- Because Specified Bills must be passed by a deadline, the closure rule (Rule 40) cannot be applied by the Government to Specified Bills.

Conditions for Passage of Specified Bills at the Deadline

- To balance the requirement that Specified Bills will be passed by the deadline, certain conditions must be met. These conditions will be enforced by the Speaker and applied at the deadline.
- Specified Bills introduced during the Fall period of sittings (or before December 21st during the first Session of a new Legislature) must have at least 20 hours of debate. The 20 hours of debate includes time devoted to any public hearings on bills.
- Specified Bills that are necessary for the passage of the budgetary estimates (i.e. budget bills) must have at least five hours of debate.
- The requisite number of hours of debate will be a cumulative total over the course of debate at all stages of the passage of a Specified Bill (i.e. Reading and committee stages).
- Specified Bills that do not meet the debate requirements will not be called at the deadline.
- The hours of debate on each Specified Bill will be tracked by the Clerk.

Procedure for Passage of Budgetary Estimates at the Deadline

- The deadline for passage of the estimates is the sitting day prior to the Completion Day. Normally this will be the Wednesday before Victoria Day.
- The Rules and Procedures for voting off any estimates that remain before the Committee of Finance and standing committees at the deadline will parallel those outlined for Specified Bills. It is anticipated that most, if not all, estimates will be voted off before the deadline.
- Estimates that are not voted before the deadline will not be “deemed” passed. The Rules will require that questions be decided by a majority of Members.
- Standing committees will be required to meet in the morning on the day prior to the Completion Day to vote off any estimates not passed before the deadline.
 - Special rules will allow the votes to be taken in the committees even if there is no quorum. The Rules will also allow the Chair to combine questions to expedite the vote. For instance, all the sub-votes of a departmental estimate will be combined into a single question on the vote.
 - Estimates will be reported back during Routine Proceedings, under reports from committees, later the same day.
 - If any estimates remain before the Assembly at the deadline, the Rules will require the Assembly to resolve into Committee of Finance on Orders of the Day. The Chair will be required by the Rules to combine questions in a similar fashion to the procedures outlined for standing committees.

Conditions for Passage of Estimates at the Deadline

- To balance the requirement that estimates must be passed by the deadline, certain conditions must be met. These conditions will be enforced by the Speaker and applied at the deadline.
- The departmental estimates of each government department are subject to no less than two hours of debate, unless voted prior to the deadline.
 - This requirement ensures that all estimates will be called before the deadline.
 - Many departments have multiple votes. The intent is not to apply the condition to every vote contained in the estimates book, but rather to the parent entity.
- The cumulative total time for debate on all estimates is no less than 75 hours.
- Estimates that do not meet the debate requirements will not be called at the deadline, thus preventing the introduction of the Final Appropriation Bill. The hours of debate on each estimate will be tracked by the Clerk.

Compliance with the Deadline

- The Assembly will not adjourn on the day prior to the Completion Day until all proceedings on Budgetary Estimates and Specified Bills have been concluded.
- The Speaker will direct proceedings on Orders of the Day on the sitting day prior to the Completion Day in a specific order, which is as follows:
 1. Disposal of outstanding budgetary Estimates, Supplementary Estimates and any Further Estimates;
 2. Final Appropriation Bill;
 3. Specified Bills.

Reinstatement of Government Bills

Under the current Rules and Procedures, any item that remains on the Order Paper at prorogation is terminated. In order for a bill to proceed during the next Session, it must be reintroduced and all completed stages retraced. This is not often a good use of time. Nearly all parliaments that have gone through a modernization process have developed procedures or rules to enable bills to be reinstated or carried over to the next Session. Your committee recommends that such a process be built into the Saskatchewan Rules.

Procedure for Reinstatement of Government Bills

- A bill that has lapsed because of a prorogation before it has been passed may be proceeded with in the next Session of the same Legislature as follows:
 - A Minister may move a motion, with notice, to reinstate a Government Bill from the previous Session of the current Legislature and to restore it to the Order Paper at the same stage the said bill had reached at the time of prorogation.
 - A motion to reinstate a bill must be made within five sitting days of commencement of the Fall period of sittings of the Assembly. Any bill reinstated in this period shall be considered a Specified Bill.
 - A motion to reinstate a bill shall be decided without debate.
 - If the motion for reinstatement of a bill is not adopted, the said bill may be reintroduced as a new bill.
- The Crown Recommendation of a reinstated bill, made pursuant to Rule 39, shall be renewed in accordance with section 54 of the Constitution Act, 1867, before the bill is further considered. The Message of the Lieutenant Governor shall be renewed as soon as possible after the adoption of an order for reinstatement.
- To avoid confusion, the Assembly should consider a new system for numbering of bills. For instance, bills could be consecutively numbered throughout a Legislature rather than repeating bill numbers each Session. The Law Clerk and Parliamentary Counsel should be asked to review this matter.

Referral of Estimates to Committees

A strong argument for a parliamentary calendar is the certainty it provides to all involved in the legislative process, whether they be Members, Ministers, public servants or staff. In keeping with that argument, your committee recommends that the practice of referring estimates to the Committee of Finance be discontinued. Instead, all estimates should be automatically referred to the various standing committees. The only exception should be the estimates for the Department of Executive Council. Your committee is of the view that traditionally the Premier's estimates are the culmination of the Session, and rightfully should remain in the Assembly proper.

Your committee recommends a process for the introduction of estimates and their subsequent referral to the committees. This new process requires a slight modification to the presentation of the budget.

Procedures for Referral of Estimates to Committees

- Under the present Rules, all budgetary estimates are referred to the Committee of Finance and then selectively withdrawn and referred to one of five standing committees (Government estimates to the four policy field committees; Assembly estimates to the House Services Committee). New rules eliminate this step.

- New rules will establish a permanent referral of the estimates to the appropriate committee, eliminating the need for a series of referral motions. The permanent referral process will be similar to the way annual reports are referred to committees.
- The allocation of the estimates to the various standing committees will be based on a schedule, which will continue to be the responsibility of the House Services Committee. The allocation schedule is periodically reviewed by the House Services Committee.
- The schedule will continue to be distributed to Members and posted in the lobbies. As well, it will be available on the Assembly's web site. The Order Paper will continue to indicate the business before each committee.
- A separate rule will provide for the permanent referral of the estimates of the Department of Executive Council to the Committee of Finance.
- The referral of estimates is not effective until the adoption of the budget motion, at the conclusion of the budget debate.

Adjustment to the Policy Field Committee Portfolios

Currently, Rule 128 (revised Rule 141) establishes the subject area portfolios of the four policy field committees. The House Services Committee is responsible for the allocation of business to the committees, based on the portfolios defined under Rule 128. During consideration of options for a permanent referral mechanism, your committee took note of the need for an adjustment, which is necessary to better balance the workloads of the four committees.

- It is recommended that the Department of Justice be moved from the portfolio of the Standing Committee on Human Services to the portfolio of the Standing Committee on Intergovernmental Affairs and Infrastructure.

V. RECOMMENDATION

That the Legislative Assembly of Saskatchewan adopt a parliamentary calendar, which is structured around a Session of 65 sitting days in two periods, being a Fall period of 25 sitting days, and a Spring period of 40 sitting days; and,

That The Rules and Procedures of the Legislative Assembly of Saskatchewan, as revised and presented as part of this report, together with the schedule of business to be allocated to the various standing committees, be adopted for immediate implementation.

Respectfully submitted,

Hon. P. Myron Kowalsky
Speaker and Chair of Standing Committee of House Services
